As all of you know, the energy industry has been experiencing dramatic changes and will continue to face new challenges in the future. New regulations are creating significant challenges in the electric generation and transmission industry and these challenges are very important to all of us as energy consumers. Please attend your annual meeting to find out more about your Cooperative's operations and our commitment to provide members with a reliable and cost-effective energy supply.

See you next month and as always, "We'll keep the lights on for you."
