Electric vehicles

Electric vehicles (EV) get a lot of attention from the media. Currently, not a lot of people own an EV but the interest level is rising rapidly. EVs offer the latest technology and the gap between the purchase price of an EV and a gasoline vehicle has continuously decreased over the last several years. Today, a consumer can purchase a Chevrolet Bolt for approximately $27,000 after government or manufacturer/dealer incentives. These prices weren't expected until several years from now.

There are countless predictions on how many EVs will be purchased and on the roadways over the next several years. If you look online, you will find forecast by the hundreds and you will quickly realize that several of them are not very close with their numbers as far as what they expect to happen. These provide no clear direction.

If you do some deeper research, you will find many things which are absolute or attention-getting. For example:

- In the CNBC article, "Detroit's Big Three Automakers Are Looking to a Battery-Powered Future, but Each Is Forging Its Own Path," writer Paul Eisenstein says auto manufacturers are ramping up their EV production. Both General Motors Co. and Ford Motor Co. have laid out plans to produce dozens of EVs. General Motors will introduce around 30 new EV models by 2023.
- In the April 2019 article, "Here's Seven Reason Why Electric Vehicle

David Johnston
Executive Vice President/
General Manager

Will Kill the Gas Car," by Evannex, conventional vehicles have more than 2,000 moving parts in the drivetrain. EVs have as few as 20. This may imply that maintenance costs will be much lower and some studies support this theory. Of the top 10 car repairs of 2015, only one of them could have happened to an EV. The other nine repairs involved parts not installed on an EV.

- Electric vehicles require less of your dollars to fuel. As of December 2019, the average price per gallon of regular gasoline in Illinois was $2.40. The average price of an eGallon is $1.24. An eGallon uses the average Illinois residential electricity price. To compare the two, if you have a gasoline vehicle that gets 25 miles per gallon, it will cost you $2.40 in fuel only to travel 25 miles. To go that same distance in an EV, it will cost you $1.24, according to Energy.gov. Brittany Essex
- Oil producers are setting their sights on the power supply. You might ask, why do the oil companies want to sell energy? Electric vehicles play a big part in their decisions. Because demand for EVs is forecasted to soar, oil and other fossil fuel demand will most likely decrease. In other words, instead of consumers refueling with gasoline, they will do so with electricity and oil companies certainly don't want to lose the transportation fuel market share. Big oil producers such as Royal Dutch Shell will sink another $2 to $3 billion per year, by 2025, in its power division. This information is from the June 2019 Reuters article, "Shell Aims to Beat Power Utilities at Their Own Game," by Ron Bousso and Susanna Twidale.

Our job at Southern Illinois Electric Cooperative includes empowering the lives of our membership. We strive to improve your quality of life. Educating our members on important energy issues helps us empower you, the member owner. Daniel Whitley

We constantly prepare for the future at SIEC. Over the next several months, we will continue our research on electric vehicle issues so that we stay informed and prepared for this potential industry changer.

You can help us locate these former SIEC members.

In October 2018, SIEC mailed capital credit checks to the last known address of former members who received electric service for 1988 and prior. Just a Picked

The following is a partial list of former members who have not cashed their checks, or their checks were returned because of an invalid address. We will publish the remaining names on our list over the next several months. You can also check our website, www.siec.org, for a complete listing of names. If your name is on the list, or you have knowledge of a current address or know someone who may have this information, please call the cooperative office at 1-800-762-1400 or 618-827-3555 and ask for Lana.

Thank you for assisting us in locating these former members.

Electrical Substation Safety Tips

Teach youngsters to stay away from electrical substation fences — they are NOT for climbing.

Contact us if you see a substation fence or transformer cabinet that is open or vandalized.

Never fly kites or drones near substations.

Never release metallic balloons near substations, which can cause outages when they contact power lines.
