

Buy American

As Labor Day approaches, think about one thing — buy American. Become more aware of it. Look at labels to see where the items are made. Support American workers, support the American economy and help to return this country to the manufacturing powerhouse it used to be.

Let's make this Labor Day about honoring those who have pushed the envelope to provide Americans with safe working conditions, a living wage and the independence and pride that comes with creating products on our own soil.

Happy Labor Day!
